This prospectus contains essential information about Homewise, Inc. Community Investment Notes (individually, a “Note” and, collectively, the “Notes”), unsecured debt securities that raise capital to secure affordable housing in New Mexico. The Notes are issued by Homewise, Inc., a tax exempt 501(c)(3) New Mexico nonprofit corporation (referred to as “Homewise,” “we,” “our,” or “us”). Prospective investors are advised to read this prospectus carefully prior to making any decisions to invest in the Notes. Homewise’s headquarters are located at 1301 Siler Road, Building D, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87507 and 500 2nd Street SW, Albuquerque, NM, 87102. Homewise’s telephone number is (505) 983-9473.

This prospectus is intended to provide potential investors with information necessary to make an informed investment decision. However, nothing contained herein is intended as legal, accounting, tax, or investment advice, and it should not be taken as such. A prospective investor should consult his or her own legal counsel and/or financial advisor concerning potential investments in the Notes. An investor must rely on his or her own evaluations of Homewise, the Notes, and the terms of this offering, including the merits and risks involved.

The Note is a high-risk investment that cannot easily be liquidated. Descriptions of some of the risk factors associated with an investment in the Notes can be found in this prospectus beginning on page 3. However, there can be no assurance that this list is comprehensive. Unforeseen risk factors not included in this prospectus may adversely affect Homewise’s operations in the future. Furthermore, the Notes are subject to restrictions on transferability and resale and may be transferred or resold only with Homewise’s prior approval and pursuant to a registration under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended (the “Securities Act”), the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the “Exchange Act”) and applicable state securities laws, or pursuant a valid exemption therefrom. Investors should be aware that they may be required to bear the financial risks of a high-risk investment for an indefinite period of time and should expect to hold the Note until maturity.

The repayment of the funds of any prospective purchaser is dependent upon the financial condition of Homewise. From a financial point of view, the Notes should not be a primary investment in relation to the overall size of an investor’s portfolio. An investor in the Notes should be able to lose up to his or her entire investment without suffering financial hardship. Investors are encouraged to consider the concept of investment diversification when determining the amount of Notes that would be appropriate for them in relation to their overall investment portfolio and personal financial needs.

A date has not been set for the termination of this offering. Homewise reserves the right to suspend the sale of the Notes for a period of time or to reject any specific Subscription Agreement, with or without a reason. Homewise may accept subscriptions for less than the minimum amount specified in its sole discretion. Payment from each investor is due upon or before acceptance of the Subscription Agreement from the investor.

The expenses of this offering are paid from our operating funds. This offering is not underwritten and no commissions are paid for the sale of the Notes. As a result, we receive 100% of the proceeds from this offering. We offer and sell the Notes only through our officers and employees and there are no outside selling agents involved in this offering. See the “Distribution” section of this prospectus, beginning on page 20.

This prospectus contains all of the representations by Homewise concerning this offering. Investors are advised to read this prospectus and the Subscription Agreement form carefully prior to making any decision to purchase the Notes. Investors are cautioned not to rely on any information not expressly set forth in this prospectus. No person has been authorized to give any information or to make any representation in connection with this offering other than those contained in this prospectus, and if given or made, such information or representations must not be relied upon as having been made by Homewise.

Risk Factors

An investment in the Notes involves various material risks, including the loss of principal. Prior to any investment, and in consultation with their financial and legal advisors, investors should carefully consider, among other matters, the following risk factors. There can be no assurance that the following list of risks associated with an investment in a Note is comprehensive. Additional risks not presently known to Homewise or that are currently deemed immaterial could also materially and adversely affect Homewise's financial condition, results of operations, business, and prospects.

General

The discussion herein of risks is not intended as dispositive, comprehensive or definitive, but rather is to summarize certain matters that could affect payment of principal of and interest on the Notes. The order in which such risks are presented does not necessarily reflect the relative importance of such risks or the likelihood that any of the events or circumstances described below will occur or exist.

Risks Associated with COVID-19 Pandemic

The outbreak of the novel coronavirus, COVID-19, has significantly disrupted societal operations, the economy and financial markets in the United States and globally. While the rapid development and fluidity of this situation precludes any prediction as to its ultimate adverse impact, the coronavirus outbreak represents a material uncertainty and risk with respect to our activities, financial condition, results of operations and/or cash flows.

We continue to actively identify and mitigate financial, operational, liquidity and impact-related risks attributable to the pandemic. As of the date of this Prospectus, Homewise has experienced a decrease in loan originations for new home purchases, likely stemming from the outbreak. However, this decrease has been offset by an increase in refinance loan originations as borrowers refinance their existing home mortgages to access more favorable interest rates. We have worked proactively with affected borrowers to provide for forbearance of repayment obligations in certain circumstances. The delinquency rate with respect to Homewise's loan portfolio has increased somewhat, but the rate remains below Homewise's internal strategic goals. Homewise has also received loans under the Paycheck Protection Program and the Economic Injury Disaster Loan program of the U.S. Small Business Administration. Please see Note 1 to our audited financial statements for the year ending March 31, 2020 for more information concerning the impact of COVID-19 on our operations.

The situation with the pandemic remains uncertain, with some states improving and others seeing a rise in new cases. Homewise could experience adverse consequences from COVID-19 that have yet to materialize, including, among other risks, a material increase in requests for payment extensions from our borrowers; a material adverse impact on the financial condition of our borrowers, making it more difficult for our borrowers to repay loans; a decreased demand for new loans; a decrease in housing values in New Mexico, which could cause the value of collateral securing our loans to decrease; an unusually large number of our investors electing not to renew their Notes upon maturity; less productive operations due to our personnel missing work; negative impact on our ability to access capital on attractive terms or at all; and/or a decrease in our liquidity. These effects could have a material adverse impact on our business, financial condition, results of operations and/or cash flows, which could negatively affect our ability to meet our payment obligations under the Notes.

Risk Level of Unsecured, Uninsured Investments; No Trust Indenture or Sinking Fund

The Notes are unsecured general obligations of Homewise and are not deposits or obligations of, or guaranteed or endorsed by, any bank or other party. You will not be a secured creditor of Homewise or have priority recourse against any of our assets. You must depend solely upon our financial condition and operations for repayment of principal and interest. Homewise has other outstanding unsecured general obligations, as well as secured obligations. Please see Note 9 to our Audited Financial Statements, which are included as an Appendix to this Prospectus, for details regarding our borrowed indebtedness, including outstanding amounts, security, interest rates, and lenders.

The Notes are not insured by any federal or state agency, including the FDIC or SIPC. Payment of principal and interest will depend solely upon the financial condition of Homewise. Without such insurance or protection, an investment in our Notes is subject to investment risks, including the potential to lose the entire principal amount you invest.

No sinking fund or other similar deposit has been or will be established by Homewise to secure repayment of the principal of the Notes or to secure payment of accrued interest. As a result, our ability to repay the principal and interest on the Notes will depend on the success of our operations and the availability of other capital.

Additionally, no trust indenture has been or will be established to provide for the repayment of the Notes and no trustee has been or will be appointed. Debt, such as the obligations represented by the Notes, is often issued pursuant to a trust indenture, such as the type required for many debt offerings by the Trust Indenture Act of 1939. These indentures provide covenants and procedures to protect debt owners and appoint a trustee to act for the benefit of all debt holders, to exercise their remedies collectively, and to protect their interests. However, the Notes issued pursuant to this prospectus are not currently governed by any indenture and there is no trustee. The Notes are being issued pursuant to an exemption from the Trust Indenture Act, and the provisions of that Act designed to protect debt owners are not applicable to our Note holders. No trustee monitors our affairs on behalf of Note holders, no agreement provides for joint action by Note holders in the event we default on the Notes and you do not have the other protections a trust indenture would provide. Accordingly, in the event of a default under the Notes, each holder will have to seek available remedies on an individual basis, which is likely to be expensive and may not be economically practicable. Other than our covenant to pay principal and interest, we are making only limited covenants, representations or warranties to investors.

Therefore, the relative risk level may be higher for the Notes than for other similar securities for which a trust indenture or sinking fund is established.

Payment of Debt Service; Revenue Sources

Payment of the Notes depends on the ability of Homewise to generate revenues or raise capital sufficient to cover debt service on the Notes and all other indebtedness of Homewise while meeting its operating expenses and other cash requirements. No representation can be made or assurance given that revenues will be realized by Homewise in amounts sufficient to make the payments necessary to meet the obligations of Homewise and to make debt service payments on the Notes as they become due.

Homewise's net revenues are subject to a variety of economic and non-economic circumstances, many of which are not within Homewise's control. Examples of these factors include, but are not limited to, collection of loan receivables, ability to raise capital, exposure to interest rate movements, success of real property sales, loan volumes originated and fees collected, real estate sales volumes and commissions earned, ability to secure grants, and the impact of federal laws on nonprofit and charitable organizations such as Homewise. Any of these factors could adversely affect Homewise's ability to make the debt service payments on the Notes.

A significant portion of Homewise's revenue is derived from grants, which are neither guaranteed nor necessarily renewable. Large grants are often associated with lengthy and stringent application processes, which can make them difficult to obtain. In addition, periods of economic hardship can cause a decrease in revenue from grants as contributors adopt more conservative financial practices. A significant portion of Homewise's grant revenue consists of federal loan capital grants. Changes in federal policy or appropriations with regard to these grants could significantly impact Homewise. Because of the uncertain nature of grants as revenue sources, there is a risk that a sudden reduction in grants could occur, which could potentially impair Homewise's ability to meet its obligations to Note holders. For more information concerning Homewise's grant funding, see Note 12 to our Audited Financial Statements, which are included as an appendix to this Prospectus.

Availability of Funding and Capital

We already owe substantial sums to other lenders and have secured such debt with a significant portion of our assets. (Please see Notes 9 and 10 to our Audited Financial Statements, which are included as an Appendix to this Prospectus, for details regarding our borrowed indebtedness, including outstanding amounts, security, interest rates, and lenders.) Depending on the aggregate balance of Notes that we ultimately issue pursuant to this Offering and subsequent similar offerings, the amount of our other debt obligations, and the rate of delinquencies and defaults by our borrowers, our reserves may not be sufficient to cover cash shortfalls that we may periodically experience, which could adversely impact our ability to pay principal and interest on the Notes as they become due. Our most significant revenue sources include home development sales, grants and contributions, loan origination fees and interest, and real estate commissions. If our funding sources reduce their support or if we suffer unexpected defaults and losses in our loan portfolio, we could experience financial difficulties that might jeopardize our ability to pay the interest and principal due from time to time on the Notes.

Additional Indebtedness; Liens on Assets

Homewise may issue additional indebtedness, secured or unsecured, and grant liens or encumbrances on any of its property. The incurrence by Homewise of additional indebtedness, secured or unsecured, may adversely affect Homewise's ability to make payments required on the Notes. The Notes are not secured by a lien on any fixed asset of Homewise. The granting of mortgages, deeds of trust, security interests and other liens on its properties to secure other obligations of Homewise may hinder or preclude realization from such properties of amounts sufficient to pay the Notes if Homewise should encounter financial difficulties.

Maintenance of Tax-Exempt Status

Homewise has received a letter from the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") confirming its status as a tax-exempt organization described in Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). To maintain such status, Homewise must conduct its operations in a manner consistent with representations previously made to the IRS and with current and future provisions of the Code, IRS regulations and rulings governing tax-exempt charitable organizations.

The maintenance of the federal tax-exempt status of an organization is contingent on compliance with general rules promulgated in the Code and related regulations regarding the organization and operation of tax-exempt entities, including their operation for charitable purposes and their avoidance of transactions which may cause their earnings or assets to inure to the benefit of private individuals. One of the tools available to the IRS to discipline a tax-exempt entity for private inurement or unlawful private benefit is revocation of the entity's tax-exempt status. If the IRS were to make a finding of private inurement or unlawful private benefit, it could revoke Homewise's tax exempt status.

In recent years, the IRS and members of Congress have expressed the view that there should exist more restrictive rules governing the tax-exempt status of 501(c)(3) organizations generally. Future regulations and rulings of the IRS could adversely affect the ability of Homewise to charge and collect revenues, finance and refinance certain of its indebtedness, or otherwise generate revenues necessary to provide for payment of the Notes. If Homewise should fail to meet any of the requirements specified by the Code and regulations thereunder as necessary to maintain its tax-exempt status, Homewise, its property, and its revenues could become subject to federal, state and local taxation, and such loss of tax-exempt status would likely have a significant adverse effect on Homewise and its operations.

Liquidity of Assets

The bulk of our assets are portfolio loans that are difficult to sell to third parties because they do not meet the purchasers' underwriting standards, they are secured by junior mortgages, or they are deferred mortgage loans (due when the house securing the loan is sold, refinanced, or vacated by the owner). For amortizing loans, we maintain a loan loss reserve equal to 2% of the outstanding loan balance for loans that are "current" or 30 days or less past due, 10% of the outstanding balance for loans that are 31 to 60 days past due, 20% of the outstanding balance for loans that are 61 to 90 days past due, and 100% of the outstanding loan balance less an amount estimated to be recoverable for loans that are more than 90 days past due. For deferred loans, we calculate reserves based on an estimate of the value that we would receive if the property securing the loan were to be sold, subject to any loan covenants requiring a greater reserve. See “Additional Information about Homewise – Financial Covenants” in this prospectus.

Some of the capital raised by the Notes may be used to purchase and develop real property for resale. As a result, these investments are inherently illiquid. There can be no guarantee that Homewise will be able to sell the property in a timely or profitable manner. As a result, Homewise may not have enough cash on hand to repay Note holders on time or at all.

Federal and State Regulations

Future changes in federal or state laws, rules, or regulations governing the sale of securities by religious, charitable, or other nonprofit organizations, or the policies, practices and procedures under which regulators review registration materials or exemption applications, may make it more difficult or costly for Homewise to offer the Notes. Such an occurrence could result in a decrease in the amount of the Notes sold by Homewise, which could potentially affect Homewise’s operations and its ability to meet its obligations to Note holders. If Homewise does not continue to qualify the Notes in any particular state, holders in such states may not be able to reinvest at maturity.

Interest Rates

Investors may select an interest rate from among those offered by Homewise. Interest rates for the Note currently range from 1% to 4%, depending on the maturity date of the Note. Once a Note is issued with the selected rate, the interest rate will remain fixed for the duration of the Note. However, Homewise may change the rates offered for newly issued Notes at any time. Should commercial rates rise relative to the rates established in this offering, Homewise is not legally obligated to redeem the principal or make a partial redemption of an outstanding Note prior to its maturity. If commercial rates fall relative to those established in this offering, Homewise may call and redeem some or all of the Notes prior to maturity, and investors whose Notes are redeemed may be unable to reinvest at higher interest rates. Interest rates offered for the Notes may not be as high as those offered by other institutions for similar securities. Furthermore, risks of investment in the Notes may be greater than implied by the relatively low interest rates on the Notes. To further Homewise’s nonprofit mission and community development objectives, Homewise offers the Notes at relatively low interest rates and upon other terms generally favorable to Homewise. Accordingly, you should consider the Notes to offer a low rate of return and generally less favorable terms when compared to other investments of comparable risk.

Risks Associated with Environmental Contamination

We do not typically conduct an environmental audit before approving a loan. If environmental pollution or other contamination is found on or near property owned by Homewise or securing a loan made by Homewise, our security for the loan could be impaired, or in some cases, we could face environmental liability. In addition, changes in environmental regulations could require the borrower to incur substantial unexpected expenses to comply with such regulations, and this could impair both the value of the collateral and the borrower's ability to repay us.

Additionally, if environmental contamination were discovered on land owned or sold by Homewise, governmental authorities could require a clean-up of the site, and Homewise could be required to pay all or a part of such clean-up costs, which could be substantial. Homewise has no reason to believe that any land owned by it has environmental problems of a material nature. However, there can be no assurances that all of its land is free of liability for environmental concerns.

No Early Redemption at the Request of a Note Holder

The interest rates on the Notes are lower than commercial rates and may be lower than the rates offered by banks and other financial institutions for federally guaranteed debt instruments. If commercial rates rise, there is no provision that would allow Note holders to seek early repayment of their Notes in order to reinvest the proceeds in investments having a higher return. This risk is heightened, especially for longer term Notes, because there is no trading market for the Notes. Interest rates offered for the Notes also may not be as high as those offered by other charitable organizations for similar securities. Furthermore, the risks of investment in the Notes may be greater than implied by the relatively low interest rates on the Notes.

Key Personnel

Homewise's operations are and will remain dependent upon the services and skills of senior management personnel, who are expected to continue to devote their time to its activities. If Homewise loses the services of these key personnel, it could have a negative impact on Homewise's business because of their skills, years of industry experience and the difficulty of promptly finding qualified replacement personnel. The services of Michael Loftin, Homewise's Chief Executive Officer, Laura Altomare, Homewise's Chief Communications Officer, and Jill Geltmaker, Homewise's Chief Financial Officer, would be particularly difficult to replace. If any of these executives becomes unable to execute his or her responsibilities, or if Homewise is unable to attract and retain skilled management personnel, its business, results of operations, and ability to repay the Notes could be adversely affected.

Uninsured Deposits

At March 31, 2020, Homewise held deposits with multiple banks that individually exceeded the Federal Deposit Insurance Coverage (FDIC) limit of $250,000. Management has taken action to mitigate the credit risk of the remaining uninsured and uncollateralized balance of $2,148,767 by depositing with well-known and reputable institutions.

Public and Secondary Markets

The nature of this offering does not afford the opportunity of a public or secondary market. Consequently, the purchase of a Note should be viewed as an illiquid investment to be held to maturity.

Difficulty of Achieving and/or Measuring Results

While Homewise prides itself on achieving tangible, lasting results in creating affordable and sustainable housing, all activities, including those funded by the proceeds of this offering, are by nature difficult to achieve and often may not be measurable for years after implementation. There is no guarantee of success or outcome, despite the best efforts of Homewise staff and partners working on such projects or activities. You should consider the social investment that the purchase of a Note represents and the potential benefits to the community of the loans funded in part from the proceeds of the Notes. The value to each investor of this community benefit is a subjective matter dependent upon your own personal evaluation of the benefits of the activities carried out by Homewise and our impact on the community as a whole. There can be no assurance that the intended community benefits of particular projects we finance will be achieved.

Change in Operations, Non-Profit, or Tax Exempt Status

Federal and New Mexico state authorities have determined that we are exempt from federal and state income taxation on the basis of our charitable purpose. This determination rests upon a number of conditions and assumptions that must continue to be met on an ongoing basis. If we fail to comply with any of these conditions or assumptions, we could lose our non-profit, tax exempt status and be subjected to federal and/or state income taxation. In addition, we are not obligated to continue our current operations or existence as a non-profit entity. If we became subject to federal or state income taxation, this could negatively impact our financial viability and cash flow, and our ability to sell Notes pursuant to exemptions for non-profit charitable organizations, all of which could ultimately negatively impact our ability to meet our obligations under the Notes.

No Minimum Offering

The sale of the Note is not subject to a minimum offering amount. A low sales volume will not necessarily prompt a cancellation of this offering or an early redemption of any outstanding Notes. Because there is no minimum amount of the offering, the estimated proceeds of the offering cannot be determined.

Bankruptcy

The Notes are subject to bankruptcy, insolvency, moratorium, reorganization and other state and federal laws affecting the enforcement of creditors' rights. Bankruptcy proceedings by Homewise could have adverse effects on Note holders that might eliminate, reduce, or delay payments on the Notes.

Competition for Contributions

Homewise competes for the contributions of donors against other housing organizations and other non-profit entities dedicated to a variety of charitable, social, educational, or religious purposes. Competitors range in size from international organizations to small community-based projects. Other organizations may be more effective in soliciting donations, obtaining grants, and raising capital. Homewise's ability to repay the Notes could be adversely affected if it is unable to successfully compete for charitable contributions and other sources of revenue.

Lending Criteria and Risks of Loan Default

Our lending criteria used in determining whether a loan should be made may be more lenient than the criteria used by banks and other commercial lenders. We are a nonprofit organization. Most of our loans are made to finance home ownership by low- and moderate-income households. In many cases, our borrowers would not have been able to obtain an equivalent amount of financing or equivalent terms from a bank or other conventional lender. Additionally, in view of the relationship we have with our borrowers, we have been willing, in certain instances in the past, to accommodate late payments to an extent greater than a commercial lender may be willing to do. We may continue to do this in the future. Historically, delinquency rates have been lower than the average delinquency rates on loans by other lenders. See "Additional Information about Homewise - Due Diligence and Underwriting Standards" section in this prospectus on page 25. Nevertheless, for the reasons above, repayment of our loans generally has greater risk of loss than traditional loan financing by conventional financial institutions.

Real Estate Development Operations

Homewise develops and builds homes for sale to its customers. Whenever we build a home, we risk not being able to sell it, which would significantly impact our overall operating margin and burden us with carrying costs on the significant amount of land that we own. We mitigate this risk for the vast majority of homes we build, by waiting to start construction until we have a purchase contract in place. Nevertheless, a risk still exists that buyers may cancel their contracts after construction has begun. We cannot guarantee that we will be able to sell these homes with a sufficient profit margin, and we cannot guarantee that we will be able to secure loans for construction financing. The occurrence of any of these events could have an adverse effect upon us and our ability to repay the Notes when due.

Potential Inadequacy of Foreclosure as a Remedy

If a borrower defaults on a loan, it has been our practice not to foreclose immediately on the loan, but instead to work with the borrower to try to resolve the borrower's difficulties. In some circumstances, this may involve restructuring or refinancing the loan. In other circumstances, we may take a deed to the property in lieu of foreclosure. We generally maintain our legal right to foreclose at any time during the workout or restructuring process. If we make a loan that defaults, there can be no assurance that the value of the real property that secures the loan will be adequate to fully repay the loan. If a default occurs, there may be substantial periods of time during which we will receive no payments in satisfaction of the loan. These events could affect our ability to make payments on our Notes.

Geographic Concentration of Loans

Homewise extends loans to low- and moderate-income residents of New Mexico. Although loans are collateralized by the borrowers' property, a risk exists that property values may fall below the loan values creating a concentration of credit risk. The majority of our loans are to borrowers in the Santa Fe and Albuquerque, New Mexico areas, which are currently experiencing a moderately growing economy. Adverse economic conditions, reduction in population and the loss of purchasing power by residents in the Santa Fe or Albuquerque areas could adversely affect the ability of our borrowers to repay their loans. If real estate values decline in the Santa Fe or Albuquerque areas due to the above factors, wildfires, earthquakes, floods, droughts, other acts of nature, acts of terrorism, or any other reason, the decline could adversely affect the value of the properties serving as collateral for our loans. Due to the geographic concentration of our loans in the Santa Fe and Albuquerque areas, adverse economic and other conditions generally affecting Santa Fe and Albuquerque area residents and businesses could have an adverse effect upon us and our ability to repay the Notes when due.

Limitations on Foreclosure of Collateral

Our remedies as a creditor upon default by any of our borrowers are subject to limitations and borrower protections imposed under various laws, regulations and legal principles that provide protections to borrowers. Our legal and contractual remedies, including those specified in our promissory notes and mortgages typically require judicial actions, which are often subject to discretion and delay. Under existing law (including, without limitation, the Federal Bankruptcy Code), the remedies specified by our promissory notes and mortgages may not be readily available or may be limited. A court may refuse to order the specific performance of the covenants contained in the promissory notes and mortgages. In addition, the laws of a particular jurisdiction may change or make it impractical or impossible to enforce specific covenants in the loan agreements.

Impairment of Collateral

The various security interests established under our mortgages and deeds of trust may be subject to other claims and interests. Examples of these claims and interests are rights arising from mortgages that are senior to Homewise's mortgages; statutory liens; rights arising in favor of the United States, or any agency thereof; constructive trusts or equitable liens otherwise imposed or conferred by any state or federal court or court of competent jurisdiction in any foreign country, including the exercise of its equitable jurisdiction; and federal bankruptcy laws or bankruptcy laws of another jurisdiction affecting amounts earned by the borrower after institution of bankruptcy proceedings by or against the borrower.

No Right to Participate in Management of Homewise

Control of Homewise is exercised by our Board of Directors. The purchase of a Note does not entitle you to participate in our management or any decision making.

Interest Rate Changes

Interest rate changes may negatively affect our profitability. Our loans receivable have an average term to maturity that is significantly longer than the average maturity term of our indebtedness, including the Notes. As a result, if interest rates vary in the future, the average interest rate we pay on Notes and other indebtedness could increase more quickly than the average interest rate we receive on loans. It is Homewise's practice to mitigate this risk by seeking to maintain a strong net asset position to enable us to lend in a rising interest rate environment. Nevertheless, there may be periods of time when we are unable to obtain an average return on our investments and loans that is greater than our average interest payment obligations. This could have an adverse impact on our ability to repay our Notes when due.

Additional Notes to be Sold

We expect to sell additional Notes in this and other offerings. The total amount of $5,000,000 to be sold in this offering is not a limitation on the amount of Notes or other debt securities we may sell in other offerings we may conduct. We have sold our Notes in other offerings in prior years and anticipate that we will continue to sell additional Notes or other debt securities as part of a continuous offering process.

Homewise's Right to Redeem

We have the right to redeem any or all Notes at any time without advance notice, and without your consent. Interest will be paid to the date of redemption.

Right to Change Policies

We reserve the right to change our policies. At various points in this prospectus, we describe our policies, such as our loan policies and our investment policies. These descriptions are intended to help you understand our current operations. We reserve the right to change our policies and procedures generally, including our loan and investment policies.

Litigation

Homewise is involved in litigation in the ordinary course of its business. Litigation can be time consuming and costly, and there can be no assurance that Homewise will not become involved in litigation that could have a material adverse effect on its business or its ability to repay the Notes when due or at all.

Other Risks

The paragraphs above discuss certain Note holders' risks, but are not intended to be a complete enumeration of all risks associated with the purchase or holding of the Notes. Unforeseen circumstances affecting the operations of Homewise may affect revenues and payments of principal of and interest on the Notes.

The ultimate goal of every service Homewise provides is to further the long-term financial success of the customer. Each service is designed to bolster other services, thereby maximizing the benefits and achieving the ultimate goal of financial security for the customer and the community. Because the goal is long-term, how a person buys a home is just as important as whether he or she buys a home. If achieved the wrong way, homeownership can actually put a homeowner on a downward spiral that results in financial insecurity or even foreclosure. But achieved the right way, homeownership starts owners on an upward spiral that enables them to continually improve their financial situation and provides them with long-term security.

Since inception, Homewise has helped more than 5,000 people purchase homes by providing financial counseling, down payment and closing cost assistance, and below-market loans. Homewise has also helped more than 2,200 people maintain or upgrade their homes and reduce operating costs by providing financial assistance for home improvements and repairs, particularly in the area of energy and water conservation. Since the refinancing program began in 2009, Homewise has also refinanced over 700 mortgage loans. In addition, more than 17,000 people have completed the Homewise Financial Fitness and/or Home Buyer Education counseling programs, which teach prospective home buyers how to establish financial goals, prepare and follow a budget, pay down debt and build savings. Homewise has also developed more than 750 energy and water efficient homes in the Santa Fe area.

Targeted Programs and Investments

Homewise offers an umbrella of products and services in our mission to help create successful homeowners and strengthen neighborhoods so that individuals and families can improve their long-term financial wellbeing and quality of life. Under that umbrella, Homewise offers the following targeted programs aimed to serve specific underserved populations:

The New American Lending Program

Many of those in the immigrant population do not have a Social Security number and most have limited credit history. With most banks and mortgage lenders, this often disqualifies them from obtaining an affordable mortgage loan. Often the only creditors who will lend to these borrowers are those with portfolio products offering high interest rates and unfavorable terms. Without access to affordable financing, homeownership remains an out-of-reach dream. Homewise offers a special New American Lending Program for clients with an ITIN (Individual Tax Identification number) instead of a Social Security number, helping to break down barriers to homeownership for this underserved population.

Energy-efficiency and Solar Lending Programs

Homewise provides special lending programs that help make energy-efficient home improvements feasible for low- and moderate-income homeowners who historically have not had adequate access to credit, capital, and financial services. These loans are focused on energy and water saving improvements and repairs to address the rising cost of energy and the conservation of natural resources in our community. Additionally, Homewise offers loan programs to help make solar energy affordable and accessible to low- and moderate-income homeowners. Homewise finances the up-front costs of converting to solar electricity including system purchase and installation with fixed-rate, long-term financing. The program is designed to remove barriers that exist in the current marketplace that prevent many homeowners from reducing their use of non-renewable energy sources by converting to solar. These existing barriers are especially burdensome for low- and moderate-income homeowners who lack the liquid savings to pay the upfront equipment and installation costs associated with converting to solar energy.

At our discretion, we may allow investors to request that their investment be used to support either the New American Lending Program or the Energy-efficiency and Solar Lending Programs by indicating their preference on the Subscription Agreement form. Investors may also elect their investment to be used for Homewise's general purposes in support of its mission to promote and support successful homeownership in New Mexico. Our acceptance of investments that are targeted in this way represents our commitment to use reasonable efforts to make or maintain loans or other investments within the specified target area or in support of the specified target cause in amounts equal to or greater than the amount of the outstanding Notes targeted to that area or cause from time to time. However, investors indicating their desire to support these targeted programs should understand that, due to variability in the availability and timing of appropriate projects and loans, and differences between the terms to maturity of loans and targeted Notes, there may be variations from time to time between the amount of outstanding Notes targeted to a specific area or cause and loans outstanding to that area or cause, and we do not track specific Notes to specific loans. An investor's indicated preference with respect to targeting their investment does not require Homewise to use that investor's funds in accordance with the targeting preference, and we reserve the right to un-target funds from time to time at our discretion.

The following is a summary of Homewise's financial position, revenues and expenses as of the end of each of the past three fiscal years, as derived from the audited financial statements. They are not the same as our audited financial statements. Investors should carefully read the complete audited financial statements and independent auditor's report to gain a full understanding of our financial condition.

The Community Investment Note is an unsecured promissory note issued by Homewise that helps promote successful homeownership in New Mexico. The Notes allow investors to obtain a financial return while their invested dollars make positive social, economic, and environmental impacts in New Mexico communities. The Notes pay an interest rate of between 1% and 4% and can be purchased with terms of 1 to 15 years, as set forth below.

A	1 Year	1.00%
B	2 Years	1.25%
C	3 Years	1.50%
D	4 Years	1.75%
E	5 Years	2.00%
F	6-7 Years	2.50%
G	8-9 Years	3.00%
H	10-12 Years	3.50%
I	13-15 Years	4.00%

Use of Proceeds

The Note proceeds will be used for Homewise’s general corporate purposes, including the promotion of its mission to promote successful homeownership in New Mexico. Homewise intends to use the proceeds from the Community Investment Notes to develop new residential property, issue fixed-rate mortgages, and issue home improvement loans. Proceeds from sales of the Notes will be used as part of Homewise’s general operating account and will not be segregated. Homewise may also use proceeds to pay outstanding Notes or other indebtedness and cover our general operating expenses.

Seniority; Security

The Notes are unsecured general obligations of Homewise. Homewise has other outstanding obligations, including unsecured general obligations and secured obligations. (Please see Note 9 to our Audited Financial Statements, which are included as an Appendix to this Prospectus, for details regarding our borrowed indebtedness, including outstanding amounts, security, interest rates, and lenders.) Moreover, Homewise is not restricted from incurring additional indebtedness. Such additional indebtedness, if issued, may be either secured or unsecured and may be entitled to payment prior to payment on the Notes. The Notes are not guaranteed or backed by a letter of credit.

Who Can Invest

The Notes are offered to both individual and institutional investors who reside in states in which our Notes are registered or exempt from registration.

Minimum Investment

The minimum investment for the Notes is $1,000, with minimum additional increments of $100.

Distribution

Homewise, as the issuer of the Notes, is offering the Notes directly. Homewise is either registered to sell the Notes or is exempt from registration in those states where the Notes are offered for sale. Certain Homewise employees are authorized to disseminate information about Homewise and about the Notes.

We are offering Notes in the principal amount of up to $5 million pursuant to this prospectus, which are expected to be offered on a continuous basis without an expected termination date. No underwriting agreement exists for the offer and sale of the Notes and no commissions are paid for the sale of the Notes. As a result, we receive 100% of the proceeds from this offering. No minimum amount of the overall offering of $5 million must be sold in order for us to accept investments.

How to Invest

After reading this Prospectus and accompanying materials carefully, an investor should complete the Subscription Agreement form and mail, email or deliver it with a check or wire transfer of funds to:

Homewise, Inc.
Homewise Community Investment Fund
1301 Siler Road, Building D
Santa Fe, NM 87507
invest@homewise.org

All purchases must be made in U.S. dollars and may be made by check or wire transfer. All checks must be drawn on U.S. banks. We reserve the right to suspend the sale of our Community Investment Notes for a period of time, discontinue the offering, or reject any specific subscription.

We generally send to the investor a confirmation of the investment, countersigned Subscription Agreement, and a certificate representing the Note after we have received the Investor's signed Subscription Agreement form and the payment has cleared the bank. All instructions for transactions and changes of address must be transmitted to Homewise in writing. Address changes and assignments may require a signature guarantee from a bank or other eligible institution. Investors may verify a transaction or change of address by calling Homewise at or 505-983-WISE (9473) and asking for the Community Investment Fund Manager.

Settlement Method

Transactions of Notes are settled with Homewise acting as registrar and paying agent.

Interest Payments

The Notes are interest-only until maturity. A Note holder will be paid simple interest only, on the last day of June and December of each year, until the maturity date of the Note, unless the Note holder elects to have their interest reinvested automatically by checking the appropriate box on the Subscription Agreement.

Interest will accrue from the date of issue set forth on the Subscription Agreement, on the basis of a 360-day year of twelve 30-day months. Unless the investor has elected to reinvest principal upon maturity (as described further in “Options at Maturity” below), all principal will be repaid on the maturity date together with all accrued but unpaid interest.

Interest rates range from 1% to 4%, based on the term of the Note, with longer-term notes bearing higher interest rates. Homewise reserves the right to increase or decrease the interest rate of Notes being sold in this offering at any time by issuing a Pricing Supplement to this Prospectus, but no such changes will be retroactive for Notes that have already been issued. The interest rate applicable to each Note is fixed at the time of issue and will remain fixed for the duration of the Note.

If an investor wishes to put more Homewise dollars to work in the community or keep his or her investment dollars working longer, he or she may agree to:

- accept a lower rate of interest;
- donate the interest to Homewise;
- reinvest the Note principal upon maturity (subject to certain conditions);
- reinvest the interest paid on the Notes (subject to certain conditions); or
- include forgiveness of the Note in his or her estate plan.

Options at Maturity

Approximately 30 days prior to a Note’s maturity, it is our practice to notify each Note holder that in lieu of receiving repayment of the Note’s outstanding principal and accrued but unpaid interest, he or she may renew the investment in a new Note, that he or she may include the unpaid interest accrued through the maturity date in such renewal (or have the interest paid out and only the principal reinvested), and the interest rate that will apply upon such renewal. The Note holder has until the maturity date to respond with his or her instructions.

If the Note holder does not reply before the maturity date, but checked the “Automatic Renewal” box on their Subscription Agreement, then we apply the principal of the maturing Note to the purchase of a new Note in the Series with the same (or closest) term to maturity as the maturing Note at the then-current interest rate for Notes in such Series, and pay the Note holder all accrued but unpaid interest. If the Note holder has not made such an election to reinvest in a new Note, whether on the Subscription Agreement or in response to our 30-day maturity notice, then we redeem the Note and pay the face amount of the Note plus all accrued but unpaid interest.

The new Note will be issued at the prevailing rate of interest then being offered for Homewise Community Investment Notes of the same maturity, which may be higher or lower than the interest rate on the maturing Note. We will notify the investor of the new rate at least 60 days prior to the automatic rollover. Even if the investor checks the “Automatic Renewal” box, the investor may change his or her mind by notifying us, in writing, prior to the maturity date of the Note that the investor wishes to have the Note redeemed rather than renewed.

See “State Specific Information” beginning on page iv for information regarding states where automatic reinvestment is not available.

Tax Aspects

This discussion of federal income tax consequences was written to support the promotion or marketing of the Notes and is not intended or written to be used, and cannot be used, by any taxpayer for the purpose of avoiding tax penalties. You are advised to consult your own tax counsel or advisor to determine the particular federal, state, local or foreign income or other tax consequences particular to your investment in our Notes.

By purchasing a Note, you may be subject to certain income tax provisions of the Code. Some of the significant federal income tax consequences of purchasing a Note include the following:

- Although we are a 501(c)(3) organization, you will not be entitled to a charitable deduction for the Note you purchase. If you donate earned interest or principal to us, we will provide you an acknowledgment of the donation in accordance with Code Section 501(c)(3) charitable contribution requirements. However, you may not be entitled to a charitable contribution tax deduction depending on your individual tax circumstances.
- Unless you hold your Note through an IRA or other tax deferred account, any interest on your Note will be taxed as ordinary income in the year it accrues regardless of whether interest is paid or reinvested in the Notes.
- Notes purchased in an IRA or other tax deferred account will be subject to the tax rules applicable to the account, and consultation with a competent financial and tax adviser is recommended.
- Unless you hold your Note through an IRA or other tax deferred account, we will provide you with a Federal Income Tax Form 1099-INT or the comparable form by the date mandated by the IRS of each year indicating the interest paid on your Note(s) during the previous year
- You will not be taxed on the return of any principal amount of your Note or on the payment of interest that was previously taxed.
- Payments of principal and interest may be subject to “backup withholding” of federal income tax (currently at the rate of 24%) if you fail to furnish us with a correct social security number or other tax identification number, or if you or the IRS have informed us you are subject to backup withholding.

In addition, if you (or you and your spouse together) have invested or loaned more than $250,000 in the aggregate with or to us and other charitable organizations that control, are controlled by or under common control with us, you may be deemed to receive additional taxable interest under Section 7872 of the Code if the interest paid to you is below the applicable federal rate. In that situation, the Internal Revenue Service may impute income up to that applicable federal rate. If you believe this applies to you, you should consult your tax advisor.

If the law creating the tax consequences described in this summary changes, this summary could become inaccurate. This summary is based on the Code, the regulations promulgated under the Code and administrative interpretations and court decisions existing as of the date of this prospectus. These authorities could be changed either prospectively or retroactively by future legislation, regulations, administrative interpretations, or court decisions. Accordingly, this summary may not accurately reflect the tax consequences of an investment in our Notes after the date of this prospectus.

Finally, this summary does not address every aspect of tax law that may be significant to your particular circumstances. For instance, it does not address special rules that may apply if you are a financial institution or tax-exempt organization, or if you are not a citizen or resident of the United States. Nor does it address any aspect of state or local tax law that may apply to you. You are encouraged to consult with your tax advisor as to the particular tax consequences to you of an investment in the Notes.

Early Redemption by Homewise at its Option

Homewise may, at its election and in its sole discretion, call and redeem any or all of the Notes in whole or in part at any time prior to maturity at a price of the principal amount being redeemed plus any accrued and unpaid interest. There is no penalty for any redemption by Homewise at its option.

Early Redemption at the Request of a Note holder

The Notes are not redeemable at the option or request of investor Note holder. Because we will use the proceeds from the sale of our Notes to fund loans and build affordable housing, we need to be able to budget the repayment of the Notes according to a fixed schedule of repayments. Consequently, partial withdrawals and early redemptions are not allowed. However, where automatic renewal is allowed by state law, an investor may “Opt Out” of an automatic renewal at any time until 30 days prior to the renewal date or an automatic reinvestment of interest at any time until 30 days prior to the interest payment date.

Financial Reporting

Our audited financial statements for the years ended March 31, 2020 and 2019 and the related notes thereto, attached as Appendix A to this prospectus, have been audited by Moss Adams, LLP. Our audited financial statements for the years ended March 31, 2018 and 2017, and the related notes thereto, are also attached as Exhibit A to this prospectus, and have been audited by Ricci & Company, LLC. It is Homewise’s policy to make subsequent audited financial statements available to investors upon written request, and to also provide our “Annual Report to Investors,” which includes highlights of our most recently audited financial statements. In addition, it is our policy to send investors regular informational reports, at least semi-annually.

Certificated Securities

It is Homewise's policy to issue to Note holders a certificate evidencing their Notes. See Appendix C for the form of Note. Homewise reserves the right to issue Notes in uncertificated form.

Transferability

Transfer of the Notes is permitted, subject to prior notice and approval by Homewise and compliance with applicable securities laws. Investors are cautioned that any such transfer must be done in compliance with applicable federal and state securities laws. In particular, the Notes may not be transferred or resold except as permitted under the Securities Act, the Securities Exchange Act, and applicable state securities laws, or pursuant to registration or exemption therefrom. As discussed below, there is not a significant secondary trading market for the Notes, nor do we expect such a market to develop.

Secondary Market

The nature of this program does not currently afford the opportunity of a secondary market. Consequently, the Note should be viewed as an investment to be held to maturity.

Retirement Accounts

A self-directed IRA can invest in the Notes if the IRA is held by a custodian that permits such investments. (A self-directed IRA is an individual retirement account created to allow the IRA holder the option of selecting, either directly or through an investment advisor or other financial representative, investments for the IRA.) You should consider whether the Notes are in accordance with the documents and instruments governing your IRA or whether the investment in the Notes could constitute a non-exempted prohibited transaction under applicable law. You should also consider whether there is sufficient liquidity in your IRA after investing in the Notes should you or your beneficiary need to take a mandatory distribution. Notes purchased in an IRA or other tax deferred account will be subject to the tax rules applicable to the account, and consultation with a competent financial and tax adviser is recommended.

We have established a website that can be accessed at www.homewise.org. Except for this Prospectus and the Subscription Agreement that we may post on our website, the information available on the internet, or that can be accessed through our website, is not part of this Prospectus. Additional Information About Homewise

Homewise Credit History

We have been engaged in our current business of generating loans since 1986 and have been developing and selling affordable housing since 1994. Many of the lending and development activities of Homewise have been financed by national foundations, government grants and local financial institutions. We have never defaulted nor been delinquent in the repayment of any funds that we have borrowed.

Due Diligence and Underwriting Standards

We originate both home purchase and home improvement/repair loans and have established limits on the combined loan-to-value ratio, the total debt ratio of the borrower (the monthly payment of the new loan plus all existing debt payments compared to gross monthly household income), and the minimum credit score of the borrower. We augment our standards with financial and home ownership counseling and maintain regular contact with borrowers. As a result, delinquency rates on Homewise loans have historically been lower than the average delinquency rates on loans by other lenders. In its National Delinquency Survey, the Mortgage Bankers Association reported delinquency rates over 30 days on United States mortgage loans (calculated as the number of loans 31 or more days past due, divided by the total number of outstanding loans surveyed) as of March 31, 2020 as follows: Conventional Loans 3.00%; VA Loans 4.05%, FHA Loans 8.65%, and Homewise Loans 2.12%.² The aggregate amount of Homewise loan payments 31 or more days past due as of March 31, 2020, $56,690, represents less than 0.8% of Homewise's amortizing loan portfolio (net of allowance) as of that date. The aggregate loan amount of loans for which payment was 31 or more past days due as of March 31, 2020, $1,671,026, represents 2.35% of Homewise's net amortizing loan portfolio as of that date. Please also see our discussion on delinquency rates below in the sections entitled, "Impaired and Delinquent Loans" and "Delinquent Loans."

Only Fixed-Rate Mortgages

We have never originated the types of sub-prime and interest-only mortgage loans that have put many homeowners at risk (such as high-interest-rate loans, interest-only loans, stated-income loans, adjustable-rate or "balloon" mortgages, etc.). Our borrowers know what their monthly payments will be, and we do not encourage them to borrow more than they can afford to repay or purchase "more home" than they can afford. Credit and budget counseling is a pre-condition to every Homewise home purchase loan. We augment this financial counseling with advice on how the borrower can operate and maintain the home to insure that the asset maintains its value.

Elimination of Unnecessary Borrowing Costs

We do not seek to profit from the loans we make through charging additional fees and costs to the borrower. Rather, it is our mission to help clients achieve financial security through responsible home ownership and healthy savings and spending habits. Towards this end, we: (1) help our customers find the most affordable homes available; (2) help potential borrowers learn to budget properly and understand how much debt they can afford to incur; (3) help potential borrowers

² The delinquency rates on Homewise loans discussed in this paragraph take into account only portfolio loans for which Homewise remains the lender. Loans that Homewise has originated and sold to third parties, but for which Homewise continues to provide servicing, are not included in these calculations. For more information concerning Homewise's mortgage servicing, please see Note 8 to our audited financial statements for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2020, attached.

finance their homes as efficiently as possible by using down payment assistance programs, obtaining a fixed interest rate, working to avoid costly mortgage insurance and other unnecessary closing costs that can add significantly to the borrower's financial obligations; and (4) endeavor to restructure loans when borrowers face difficulties, such as job loss or medical crisis, rather than foreclosing quickly.

Outstanding Debt

As of March 31, 2020, Homewise had $87,939,138 in outstanding lines of credit, notes payable, equity equivalent investments, and community investment notes. Please see Note 10 to our Audited Financial Statements, which are included as an Appendix to this Prospectus, for details regarding our notes payable, including outstanding amounts, security, interest rates, and lenders.

Financial Covenants

Under the terms of our loan agreements with our lenders, we are required to satisfy the following ongoing financial requirements. Although these covenants are not included in the Homewise Community Investment Notes, the financial strength that results from maintaining our financial condition in compliance with these financial covenants benefits all of our creditors, including investors in this Offering:

- Income – Maintain a net increase in unrestricted net assets for the current year and the prior year;
- Capital Requirements – Maintain net assets in an amount equal to or exceeding 35% of the total assets. (Net assets are total assets less total liabilities). Maintain unrestricted net assets in an amount equal or exceeding 25% of the total assets;
- Liquidity – The sum of Homewise's cash and cash equivalents shall not be less than six (6) months of operating expenses;
- Debt Service Coverage – Maintain an annual debt service coverage ratio (net income plus depreciation, amortization and other similar non-cash expenses divided by debt service) of more than 1.2 to 1.0;
- Loan Loss Reserves – The loan loss allowance shall be calculated in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP), but in no event shall the allowance for amortizing loans be less than 2% of the outstanding balance.

Resale Market for Loans

We sell the vast majority of the loans that we originate. The turmoil in recent years in the sub-prime lending and other credit markets did not affect our ability to sell loans into the secondary market since they are underwritten to standards that are acceptable to organizations such as Fannie

Mae. However, we cannot make any guarantees regarding the future viability of the secondary market for home mortgage loans.

Discussion and Analysis of Recent Financial Performance

Total support and revenues for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2020 totaled approximately $33.9 million, a decrease of approximately $3.5 million, or 9.5% versus the prior year. This decrease was primarily due to lower grant and contribution revenue, which were approximately $2.9 million lower than the prior year.

Total expenses were approximately $29.6 million, a decrease of approximately $2.7 million, or 8.4% compared to the prior year. This was driven in large part by decreases in the cost of program costs of approximately $1.2 million and cost of home development sales of approximately $1.3 million.

Overall, Homewise's net assets at March 31, 2020 were approximately $57.4 million, which was an increase of approximately $4.6 million or 8.7% over net assets at March 31, 2019.

Changes in Consolidated Financial Position

For the fiscal year ended March 31, 2020, total assets increased by approximately $10.7 million over the prior fiscal year to approximately $153.0 million, which was due primarily to an increase in amortizing mortgage loans receivable of $7.8 million, or 12.6% over the prior fiscal year, an increase in deferred mortgage loans receivable of $1.4 million, or 6.5% over the prior fiscal year.

Total liabilities increased by approximately $6.1 million to approximately $95.5 million, driven primarily by an increase in notes payable of approximately $7.8 million. Homewise's unrestricted net assets increased by approximately $2.2 million, or 5.8%, over the prior year, and total net assets increased by approximately $4.6 million, or 8.7%, over the prior year.

Mortgage Loans Receivable

Homewise has originated amortizing mortgage loans bearing interest rates from 1.0% to 8.5% for periods of up to 30 years. The loans are secured by an interest in the subject property. We also originate deferred mortgage loans, which are loans that are due at an unknown future date. They include:

- Loans that are due on the sale, transfer, refinance, or vacating of the related home; and
- Forgivable loans that do not bear interest and are forgiven if the owner lives in the home for a specified period of time.

A summary of our mortgage loans receivable, including the current portion, is as follows:

	2020	2019	2018
Amortizing	$ 72,639,835	64,456,026	57,185,234

Deferred loans that are expected to be forgiven at the end of a fixed term totaled $3,485,016 and $390,568 at March 31, 2020 and 2019, respectively.

Impaired and Delinquent Loans

A loan is classified as delinquent if it is not timely paid based on the contractual terms of the loan agreement. Management considers a loan to be impaired when, based on current information and events, it is determined that we will not be able to collect all amounts due according to the original terms of the note.

The allowance for loan losses is established through a provision charged to loan losses expense. The allowance is an amount management believes is adequate to absorb estimated losses on existing loans that may become uncollectible. When all or a portion of a loan is deemed uncollectible, or recoverable through a sale of collateral, such amount is charged to the allowance for loan losses.

The following tables set forth our loan delinquencies and write-offs for the past three fiscal years:

Targeted Programs and Investments: Additional Targeting Option

Homewise offers an umbrella of products and services in our mission to help create successful homeowners and strengthen neighborhoods so that individuals and families can improve their long-term financial wellbeing and quality of life. Under that umbrella, Homewise offers two targeted programs aimed to serve specific underserved populations described in the Prospectus: a New American Lending Program and Energy-Efficiency and Solar Lending Programs.

In addition to these targeted programs, Homewise is now offering a third targeted program, the Community Catalyst Program. The following discussion provides information concerning all three targeted programs available to investors in the Notes.

Community Catalyst Program

Our Community Catalyst Program advances high impact and much-needed community development initiatives in Northern New Mexico by financing affordable housing and mixed-use developments, creating new homeowners, helping homeowners make home improvements, creating low-impact rental housing through casitas and guest houses, and helping seniors make necessary home modifications to age in place. Community Catalyst Program initiatives are intended to benefit the entire community by catalyzing development projects and creating new financial products and tools to make these development projects affordable and accessible, positioning New Mexico communities to make a meaningful and lasting impact on affordable housing while helping to create a healthier and more equitable future.

The New American Lending Program

Many of those in the immigrant population do not have a Social Security number and most have limited credit history. With most banks and mortgage lenders, this often disqualifies them from obtaining an affordable mortgage loan. Often the only creditors who will lend to these borrowers are those with portfolio products offering high interest rates and unfavorable terms. Without access to affordable financing, homeownership remains an out-of-reach dream. Homewise offers a special New American Lending Program for clients with an ITIN (Individual Tax Identification number) instead of a Social Security number, helping to break down barriers to homeownership for this underserved population.

Energy-efficiency and Solar Lending Programs

Homewise provides special lending programs that help make energy-efficient home improvements feasible for low- and moderate-income homeowners who historically have not had adequate access to credit, capital, and financial services. These loans are focused on energy and water saving improvements and repairs to address the rising cost of energy and the conservation of natural resources in our community. Additionally, Homewise offers loan programs to help make solar energy affordable and accessible to low- and moderate-income homeowners. Homewise finances the up-front costs of converting to solar electricity including system purchase and installation with fixed-rate, long-term financing. The program is designed to remove barriers that exist in the current marketplace that prevent many homeowners from reducing their use of non-renewable energy sources by converting to solar. These existing barriers are especially burdensome for low- and moderate-income homeowners who lack the liquid savings to pay the upfront equipment and installation costs associated with converting to solar energy.

At our discretion, we may allow investors to request that their investment be used to support the Community Catalyst Program, the New American Lending Program, or the Energy-efficiency and Solar Lending Programs by indicating their preference on the Subscription Agreement form. Investors may also elect their investment to be used for Homewise's general purposes in support of its mission to promote and support successful homeownership in New Mexico. Our acceptance of investments that are targeted in this way represents our commitment to use reasonable efforts to make or maintain loans or other investments within the specified target area or in support of the specified target cause in amounts equal to or greater than the amount of the outstanding Notes targeted to that area or cause from time to time. However, investors indicating their desire to support these targeted programs should understand that, due to variability in the availability and timing of appropriate projects and loans, and differences between the terms to maturity of loans and targeted Notes, there may be variations from time to time between the amount of outstanding Notes targeted to a specific area or cause and loans outstanding to that area or cause, and we do not track specific Notes to specific loans. An investor's indicated preference with respect to targeting their investment does not require Homewise to use that investor's funds in accordance with the targeting preference, and we reserve the right to un-target funds from time to time at our discretion.
